LIGHT THE TUNNEL.

The blame for the collision in the Fourth Avenue Tunnel yesterday should be positively determined and placed. The loss of life gives the city the right to investigate ed. The people demand it.

ident in the tunnel was not unextrains rush into this black hole and tear gh it, while the engineer cannot see obstruction on the track: if some signal were misunderstood, a wreck must occur and death and disaster result. Engines dashing along at thirty-mile at hour speed do not feel their way, and if there is anything ahead there is no time or ce to stop, for it cannot be seen until the train is upon it. And the New York Central Railroad Company knows this as

Three years ago it was suggested to the Directors of the Company that it was necessary to light the tunnel with electric lights, and the Company decided against it. If it had been so lighted yesterday those six un fortunates would not have been killed.

Light the tunnel. The travelling public demands it, humanity suggests it and right makes it imperative.

Who is to blame for the disaster in the Fourth Avenue Tunnel yesterday? Why was it not lighted ?

MOMEN IN COUNCIL

AT LEAST THIS.

The investigation into the census by the Assembly Committee appointed to examine its arithmetical vagaries has elicited from a witness that he was not allowed to finish his work, but had to turn in an enumerasion notably short of the real figures.

This is nothing more than was expected This enumerator is only one of hundreds and deficiences like those of his return multiplied, would at once account for the discrepancy between the Porter Census of New York City and that of the police

Nobody will be surprised at this. It is done in the face of such an outrageou thing? What sort of official conduct is a int which at the best was culpably blundoring and at its worst is a fraud?

Three years ago it was suggested to light the Fourth Avenue Tunnel. If it had been lighted yesterday those six unfortunates would not have been killed.
